Dear Cate Terwilliger,

Thanks so much for the coverage in the Denver Post of the Pikes Peak Lavender Film Festival last year. We're doing it again and hope you'll be able to review the attached films. We've expanded this year to three days September 14,15 &16 and will be showing 12 feature films, 10 shorts and have two parties. We have copies of every feature film except our closing night film, Hedwig and the Angry Inch.

This year we have a film from every continent, a film about transgender people (Southern Comfort) and a bisexual film (Love =ME3). The other films have stories and/or characters that are gay and lesbian. We try to book the best films available this year. We think we've put together an excellent program.

We increased our overhead by 50% and are nervous about meeting all our expenses. We're very hopeful that our program will attract a large audience. Festival passes are $70(include 12 films 10 shorts and 2 parties), Opening Night, and day passes for Sat. and Sun. are $25. Individual movie tickets will be available through the box office at the Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center, where the festival is held ~~or at the door~~ for $8.00.

After Sept 5

Your coverage of this fine film festival will certainly be a great help towards its success. Thank you very much. If you need further information or would like a pass to the festival, please feel free to call me.

Sincerely,

Alma Cremonesi
